

Boost Integration is a civic onboarding platform that connects migrants of all backgrounds with essential integration resources, peer-to-peer support from those who have navigated the same journey, and pro bono volunteers to foster meaningful integration into Swiss society.

Mission

To reduce the opportunity gap for migrants by providing access to the knowledge, community, networks, and guidance they need to integrate into Swiss society.

Marketing Research

In July 2026, Boost Integration's volunteer team surveyed migrants and foreign residents in Basel and the Basel-Stadt/Basel-Landschaft region. The goal was to understand their real needs and challenges.

The survey was conducted at these locations in Basel:

- Barfüsserplatz
- Rheinufer / Kleinbasel (around Claraplatz)
- Roche headquarters, Grenzacherstrasse 124
- Faculty of Business and Economics, University of Basel, Peter Merian-Weg 6
- kHaus, Kasernenstrasse 8

The study involved 103 migrants and foreign residents in Switzerland, with varying lengths of stay.

Origin: 54% from Europe, 24% from Asia; the rest from Africa, the Americas and other regions. Residence status: 31% hold a B permit, 23% a C permit, and 15% Swiss citizenship; 30 % refugee or other statuses. Age: Most are aged 26–34 (41%), followed by 19–25 (19%) and 35–45 (18%).

Employment: 52% work full-time and 23% are students. Fields: Mainly science & research (25%) and business, finance & law (24%), followed by healthcare, IT and education.

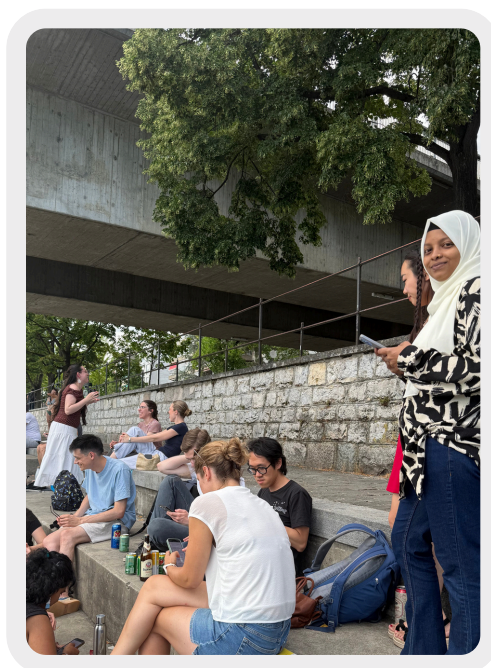

What the study shows

79% did not contact an integration organisation in the past 12 months. When respondents rated their experience with integration organizations on a 1–5 scale, the average score was 3.4.

~75% of participants in their second year felt lonely at least sometimes. ~40% experience loneliness once a month.

Long-term barriers: Language, taxes and bureaucracy remain difficult even after 6+ years.

56% rely on personal networks; most discover support through friends, social media and the internet rather than official channels.

Everyone has that list.

The tax letter you haven't opened. The insurance question you've been meaning to google for three months. The form nobody explained to you before you moved here.

When I arrived, I was alone, clueless, and had to navigate everything through trial and error, from insurance, banking, and immigration registration to finding affordable housing, a job, a social circle, and local support resources. It was a lonely and uncertain experience. I want to help others feel more supported, connected, and informed so they don't have to face the same challenges on their own...”
